Marlin Gillespie, general manager of Key Buick-Cadillac, Inc., in Huntingdon, hands the keys of a new Opel to Kim Hershberger '75 of Martinsburg who represents the Juniata College Student Volunteer Service. Kim is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Hershberger '50, and the auto agency is owned by Klare Sunderland '56, a Juniata trustee from Harrisburg. The Volunteers are working in child welfare, day care centers, Head Start, the hospital and the 4-H Club. (See story on Page 3)

Walter A. Keeney, Jr. '49, records a contribution from an alumnus during the Juniata Telethon held in Harrisburg during which over $13,500 was pledged. Others who participated included Harold Brumbaugh '33, Richard Dodge '57, Henry Gibbel '57, James Gibbel '60, John Gibbel '61, James Heck '59, George Pote '55, and Clemens Rosenberger '54.

Alumni Council gives Juniata College strong support

Juniata College's bid to provide the nation with another "century of service" is assured if the dynamic Alumni Council has its way. A vital organization, its 22 members are continuing to give their alma mater enthusiastic support.

Robert M. Keim '52, council president, reviewed the objectives established for the 1972-73 academic year during the winter meeting held in the Shoemaker Galleries on February 3rd.

In addition to the continuing alumni assistance in admissions, the objectives include the development of alumni-student relationships, the continued support of the Annual Support Fund and the Margin of Difference programs, the review of alumni communications, and assisting in job placement for graduates.

The council voted unanimously to assist career counseling and job placement activities on campus.

Charles C. Brown, Jr. '59, vice president, urged all alumni to help the job placement committee, of which he is chairman, in the search for career opportunities. "We ask that all Juniatians let us know about career openings for our 1973 graduates."

Brown introduced Charles Bargerstock '47, director of placement and career counseling at Montclair State College (N. J.) and president of the Middle Atlantic Placement Association. Bargerstock told council members that career planning is an important responsibility and alumni can play an effective role in assisting Ronald L. Shunk, Juniata's director of career planning.

In other action the council's executive committee recommended that all former alumni council members be appointed to an Alumni Advisory Committee. "I would hope," Keim said, "that former members of the council will participate in our meetings and share their experiences with us."

Certificates of appreciation for their service were presented to all emeriti Alumni Council members. President John N. Stauffer '36 complimented the emeriti members for their important contributions and welcomed their future assistance in the work of the council.

David A. Kreider '71, acting director of alumni affairs, reviewed alumni activities since September and previewed plans for alumni programs and activities thru the month of May. He outlined plans for Alumni Weekend and for Class Reunions which will be held on June 2 and 3.

Each alumni club is making an effort to recruit five prospective students for Juniata and plans have been made to conduct at least one alumni meeting before June.

Kreider also announced that the Blair-Bedford and Central Pennsylvania alumni clubs will sponsor scholarships for students from their respective areas similar to those already established in Huntingdon, Philadelphia and Chicago.

Mrs. Cyrus O. Caulton '29, chairman of the admissions committee, praised those alumni who have participated in the admissions recruitment program and specifically thanked the alumni who wrote to members of the Centennial Class of 1976, welcoming them to Juniata.

William N. Maclay '47, chairman of the nominating committee, announced the candidates for office in 1973-1974. The alumni trustee candidates include Henry H. Gibbel '57, Dr. Russell A. Hill '55 and Dr. John T. Yates '56.

Candidates for alumni vice president are: Mrs. Barbara Walls McQuaide '59, Mrs. Shirley Detwiler Lingenfelter '55 and Mrs. Pauline Kauffman Maxwell '35.

For council member at large the candidates are: Mrs. Marbrie Goodrich Beefelt '58, E. Jeffrey Croner '71, James R. Donaldson '67, Richard M. Mohler '67, David G. Oliver '63 and M. Kim Burket '60.

The Annual Support Fund has not quite reached the half-way mark, according to Francis W. Zimmerman '54, the 1972-73 chairman, who announced that $60,550 has been received. "We have five more months to reach our goal of $130,000 and we invite all alumni to support this important drive for unrestricted funds," he said.

At a luncheon held in the Faculty Lounge in Ellis Hall, President Stauffer expressed gratitude to members of the Dana Matching Committee, chaired by Henry H. Gibbel '57, for their efforts and dedication in raising the necessary gifts to match the $250,000 grant from the Charles A. Dana Foundation in support of teaching.

For their work President Stauffer presented a framed limited edition engraving by John DePol, A.N.A., of Ellis Hall to Richard L. Dodge '57, James C. Gibbel '60, George G. Pote '55, Rev. W. Clemens Rosenberger '54, Klare S. Sunderland '56 and William E. Swigart, Jr. '37.

Members unable to attend were Henry H. Gibbel '57, James R. Heck '59 and Walter A. Keeney, Jr. '49.

Reunification in Korea studied by Dr. Young W. Kihl

As the Vietnam cease-fire agreement opens the door for negotiations between the leaders of the long-suffering people of Indo-China, a Juniata College political science professor is making an intensive and scholarly study of the problems involved in reuniting the divided parts of a single national community split by war.

Dr. Young W. Kihl discovered that very little has been written on the question of re-integrating or re-uniting divided nations like Germany, Vietnam, China, Yemen, India or his own homeland, Korea.

Dr. Young W. Kihl

Last summer Dr. Kihl traveled to Seoul to talk with intellectuals and government officials and to present a paper on unification at an International Symposium. His speech attracted the attention of the major daily newspapers in his native country. In addition he conducted a survey of 350 political party leaders and followers for use in a forthcoming book.

Last month Dr. Kihl presented a paper on "The Problems of Unifying a Divided Nation" at the 12th Annual South-east Regional Conference of the Association for Asian Studies at Appalachian State University, Boone, North Carolina.

In Dr. Kihl's view the present South Korean government under President Park prefers a "gradualist and long-term approach to the attainment of Korean unification."

"The North Korean perception of unification based on the idea of self-reliance and nationalism must be carefully weighed against and balanced with the more earthly and pragmatic approach of the South Korean government."

Dr. Kihl concludes that the success of Seoul's strategy hinges on at least two factors in the move toward re-unification:

One, can Pyongyang be persuaded to take a long-term strategy or can Kim Il Sung, Premier of North Korea, afford to wait that long, especially when he is six years older than Park?

Second, would the circumstances of East Asian power politics tolerate and favor the move of two Koreas toward unification?

The problem in Korea as in Vietnam, in Dr. Kihl's view, partly hinges on the attitude of the big powers. "Presently," he points out, "the neighboring countries of Japan, China and the USSR—and the U. S.—seem to be not openly against the unification of Korea."

The newly formed North-South Coordinating Committee in Korea is seen by Dr. Kihl as a remarkable achievement considering the mutual hostility and antagonism betweeen the two governments. There may be, in Korea, lessons for Vietnam as well.

Human problems—human solutions; Juniata students serve community

Large numbers of Juniata students are volunteering for community service. They are offering Huntingdon additional human resources by giving of their energies and enthusiasm in a dozen different areas where help is needed.

The Juniata College Student Volunteer Service, sponsored by the Student Government, was organized last September and has since been involved in extensive community work.

Volunteers are providing transportation for child welfare service, assistance in day care centers, and in the well-baby clinic along with a variety of more ambitious projects.

More than 60 students attended the first meeting of the Volunteer Service. The glue holding the group together has been supplied in ample portions by three of the most involved individuals, Kim Hershberger, Nancy Kohler, and Miriam Smith all of whom are sophomores.

Miss Hershberger initiated the student involvement by asking the Huntingdon County Human Service Commission in what ways the Juniata students could be of assistance.

The first activity by the students was in child welfare transportation but it was soon expanded to arts and crafts in the geriatrics section of the J. C. Blair Memorial Hospital. Students have also been helping as teacher's aides in Head Start programs, reading for children, and they have established a 4-H group for second through tenth graders.

An informal Big Brother participation through the Huntingdon Community Center is one of the newest projects taken on by the Juniata students and the undergraduates and their friends reap vast benefits from the exchange. New programs include pre-school tutoring and probation counselling.

A unique student-community cooperation is being achieved in the relationship between the Volunteers and the Huntingdon service organizations. "People appreciate what we are doing" one volunteer said. "We can do things students weren't able to do in the past."

So well received has the Student Volunteer Service been that Klare Sunderland '56, owner of the Huntingdon Key Buick-Cadillac dealership and a member of the Juniata board of trustees, has donated the use of a new car for the use of the student service. All insurance costs are courtesy of Rex Hershberger '50.

Alumni urged to submit nominations for Distinguished Professor Award

Alumni are urged to submit nominations for the Beachley Distinguished Professor Award by April 1, 1973. The Nominations must be supported by arguments and documentation, according to Dr. Wilfred G. Norris '54, provost.

The Beachley award includes a gift of $1,000 as established by Donovan R. Beachley, Sr. '21 and the late Mrs. Grace Rinehart Beachley '21 and Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Beachley, Jr. '47, of Hagerstown, Md.

Nominations should be sent to Dr. Norris. Criteria for the selection of nominees are: years of service to the college; contribution to department; participation in college and student activities; effectiveness as a teacher; scholarly activities; service to the community.

The first recipient of the Beachley Distinguished Professor Award was Dr. Kenneth W. Crosby (1968) followed by Prof. Paul M. Heberling (1969), Dr. Donald M. Rockwell (1970), Dr. Eva R. Hartzler '32 (1971), and Dr. Earl C. Kaylor, Jr. '46 (1972).

Provost Norris requests that the alumni submit nominations with signed supporting statements.

NEWS BRIEFS

SUMMER SESSIONS SCHEDULED

Juniata will again hold Summer Sessions during June, July and August with many excellent courses offered in all departments. Dr. Donald T. Hartman, associate dean, has been appointed director, succeeding Dr. Earl C. Kaylor, Jr. who was recently named a Charles A. Dana Supported Professor of Religion.

The two terms, from June 13 through July 20 and from July 23 through August 29, offer students a means of advancing their education and the opportunity to acquaint or re-acquaint themselves with college level course work. Applications are to be submitted by June 4, 1973.

Alumni may obtain further information by writing to Summer Sessions, Juniata College, Huntingdon, Pa. 16652.

CONVERSATION WITH SHAPP

Student Government President David P. Andrews, a junior political science major from Altoona, is one of eight students from Pennsylvania colleges and universities who recently participated in "A Conversation with the Governor" over WPSX television.

The free-flowing conversation with Pennsylvania Governor Milton A. Shapp, produced in the Penn State studios of the public television station, touched on state and national concerns.

Andrews, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Paul Andrews, Altoona, was recently named to Who's Who Among Students at American Universities and Colleges in the U. S.

HIRSCH CONDUCTS FESTIVAL

Bruce A. Hirsch, chairman of the music department and associate professor of music, conducted the South Central District Chorus last month in the Hollidaysburg Area Senior High School.

The concert presented 218 students, representing 31 schools, who were very enthusiastic about working under Hirsch's direction. Since joining the faculty in 1965 Professor Hirsch has built a reputation as an outstanding choral director.

POLITICAL SYMPOSIUM

"The State and the Limits of Civil Obedience" is the topic to be discussed in a two-day political Symposium on April 5-6. The speakers include three prominent educators, Dr. Eugene Rostow of the Yale law school, Dr. Richard Taylor, professor of philosophy at the University of Rochester, and Dr. Ralph Potter, professor of Social Ethics at Harvard Divinity School. The Symposium is made possible by a grant from the S & H Foundation and a contribution from the Council for Philosophical Studies.

Basketball and wrestling teams suffer losing seasons

Hardcourt five better last year's performance

If the Juniata hardcourt five does not win another game the rest of the season, the performance of last year's squad has already been doubled.

The Navy Blue and Gold program is on the way back up from the rock bottom it hit last year. Youth and inexperience have been the major problems during the first half of the 1972-73 campaign, but then, no one expected to climb the whole way back to the top in a single stride.

At times playing all freshmen, feeling their exhilaration in victory and suffering their frustration in defeat, Coach Jack Swinderman bides his time for that all important future.

While the Juniata underclassmen have made numerous mistakes, even in winning, there are two things the youngsters do not lack—enthusiasm and promise.

Perhaps the most promising factors this season have been Oscar Hatchett and Robbie Carles, a pair of 6-0 freshman guards who have been the most consistent performers for the J-men this year.

Carles is leading the squad in scoring with a better than 15 point rate while Hatchett is using his playmaking ability to register seven assists per outing. Rarely does a team win consistently without a duo of outstanding guards and Juniata could well have the best pair in the league in a couple of years.

Up front, Don Williams and Tim Tabor have been seeing more playing time than anyone else and with another dozen games under their belts, they could develop into a formidable rebounding force. Williams already leads the squad in rebounding with 11.6 per game while Tabor is the next best board man on the team with 8.1 per contest.

There are victories ahead, some this month, but more and more in the seasons ahead.

McCartney and Salisbury post winning records

At this writing, Coach Bill Berrier '60 and his wrestling team are feeling pretty low. After eight consecutive losses, it could well mean that a win would be enough to salvage a season.

Through the first eight matches of the campaign, Jim McCartney's performance at 126 pounds is the only positive aspect of an all-but-lost season. McCartney, a fourth place finisher in the Middle Atlantic Conference meet a year ago as a junior, has a 6-2 record of wins and losses and has recorded a pair of pins. Mark Salisbury at 118 is the only other Juniata grappler with a winning record, a 4-3-1 mark.

Although the Blue and Gold matmen have been squashed by such powers as Lycoming, Gettysburg and St. Francis, the remaining five defeats were extremely competitive.

A decision separated Juniata and its opponent in three meets, Moravian, Fairleigh Dickinson and Kings Point, while Delaware Valley and Susquehanna had considerable difficulty in getting by Berrier's team.

CHUCK KNOX '54

Chuck Knox '54 named Rams' head coach

CHUCK KNOX '54 has been named the new HEAD COACH OF THE PROFESSIONAL FOOTBALL LOS ANGELES RAMS. What? How can that be?

Juniatians, stand up and be heard. One of our own has risen to the pinnacle of the professional football hierarchy. It is a tribute to the positive attitude and enthusiasm of Chuck Knox that he reached the peak of professional football coaching and it is an ironic snub to the so-called big-time football schools such as University of Southern California or the University of Texas.

When newspapermen and broadcasters began perusing Chuck Knox's biography, they were sent scurrying to their maps to locate Juniata College.

Knox began his football learning here under the direction of Coach Bill Smaltz, now an assistant at North Carolina State. Knox, then a 180-pound tackle, served as an assistant tutor for Juniata the year following his graduation.

Following his Juniata experience, he made stops at Tyrone High School, Ellwood City High and Wake Forest and Kentucky in the college ranks prior to joining the New York Jets of professional football about the same time a fellow named Joe Namath began his career.

Four years with the Jets and six with the Detroit Lions as offensive line coach established Knox as a prime candidate for a head position which he received in mid-January.

Knox got his start right here in Huntingdon, Pennsylvania, at Juniata College. He has reached the top in his profession and taken his Juniata background with him. GOOD LUCK IN 1973 CHUCK, Juniata is rooting for you.
